

of students in our communication fields of study.

- G. Creation of a Methods course requirement (three hours to be selected from a list of approved courses). Familiarity with communication research methods improves student understanding and achievement in upper division Communication Studies courses, and enables students to engage in their own research when required in CMS and other courses. The ability to conduct research is increasingly attractive in communication-related careers.
- H. Creation of a Career Preparation requirement (three hours to be selected from a list of approved courses). This is intended to provide Communication Studies undergraduates with the support and resources necessary to achieve the skills, experiences, and co-curricular knowledge to prepare them for life after graduation. Enables students in the major to connect learning in courses to a communication career or graduate/professional school. One new course option in this requirement will be CMS 307K (lower-division internship) which will be added to the Course Inventory in September, 2017.
- I. Increase of Communication Studies hours required to complete the degree from 30 to 36 . This is to provide greater depth of coursework, with the inclusion of both the Methods and Career Preparation requirements.
- J. Increase of upper division Communication Studies hours from 15 to 18, since the minimum major hours to complete the degree is also increasing (see above). This is to ensure that at least half of the major is completed at the upper division level, as there is greater rigor in the content of upper division courses.
- K. Increase maximum hours allowed in CMS coursework from 36 to 48. This will allow CMS majors an opportunity to fully explore a wide range of CMS coursework, should they wish to. It also brings CMS more in line with other Moody College majors.
- L. Adjusting hour requirements within Corporate Communication and Interpersonal Communication tracks. This will bring consistency among all tracks within the Department of Communication Studies.
- M. Update course options within the various tracks to keep up with the current CMS course inventory.
- N. Changing track name from Human Relations to “Interpersonal Communication” to better meet the varied interest and course curriculum represented in this track. The Interpersonal faculty in the Department of Communication Studies agree that the track is best represented by “Interpersonal Communication.”
- O. Removing restriction under Special Requirements of the Major on the hours that a non-CMS major may take. This is no longer necessary for the Communication Studies department due to the Communication Studies Minor.
- P. The paragraph under Special Requirements of the Major referring to a 2.25/2.0 GPA is no longer a policy in the Moody College and has been struck.
- Q. Including new language restricting Communication Studies majors from declaring a second major in Communication and Leadership, since the degrees have significant overlap in coursework, though with different focuses.

Text edits (Appears in the standard way: old policies/text are struck through; new policies/text are underlined)

- R. Made text edits in introductory paragraph to provide more clarity.
- S. Made text edits in Core Curriculum paragraph for clarity.
- T. Updated the paragraph regarding the Communication and Culture requirement for clarity and to more accurately reflect our current practices.
- U. Order and Choice of Work has been updated for accuracy.
- V. In Order and Choice of Work, we have removed the rules stating that first-year students may not take two beginning foreign language courses in the same semester and they may not take more than eight semester hours in one department. These polices are obsolete.
- W. The text has been edited for typos, unclear wording, and inaccuracies.
