Graduate Student Assistant in Humanities Honors Program

We are seeking a graduate student assistant for up to 10 hours per week to help mentor Humanities Honors students and assist with academic programming for the Humanities major. This position will work specifically with the junior cohort as they prepare to write an honors thesis. Specific duties will include helping students identify potential thesis supervisors, coaching them on approaching faculty about supervising a thesis, following up with students about faculty meetings, and coordinating bi-weekly workshops to prepare students for thesis writing. There will also be the opportunity to support the Humanities Student Council and assist with alumni outreach. Pay for this position will be $13/hr.

The Humanities Honors program is an interdisciplinary Liberal Arts major that students design themselves around a particular research interest or idea. Typically, students apply to Humanities Honors during their sophomore year. The students in this program are highly motivated and diverse, with a broad range of academic interests and backgrounds. For more information about our program, see our website: https://liberalarts.utexas.edu/humanities/

Applicants with experience mentoring or teaching and have completed either an undergraduate or graduate thesis/dissertation will be given preference.

To apply, please email a letter of interest, your resume, and the names of two references to Linda Mayhew at lmayhew@austin.utexas.edu by Friday, October 19th.
