

ITUNES-Convert Audio File to AIFF

January 28, 2009 Information:susanne.kraft@austin.utexas.edu

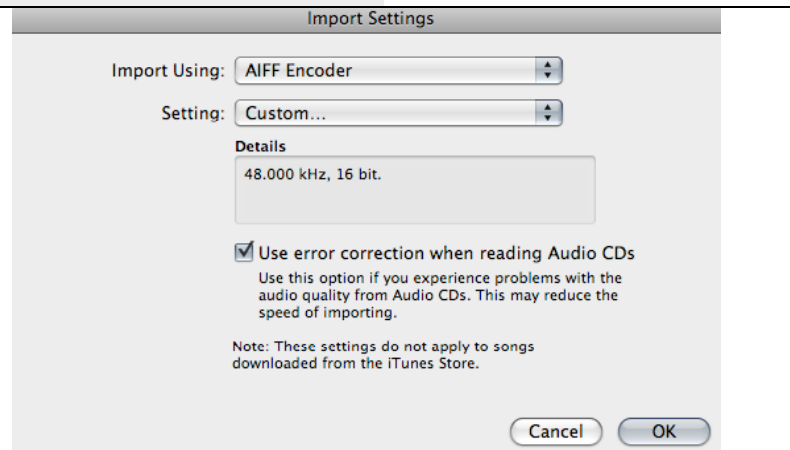

1. Open ITUNES
2. Go to "Preferences" > iTunes > Preferences >

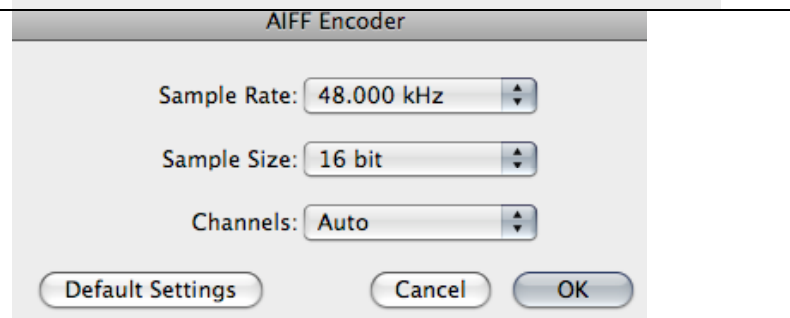

3. Click on "General" then "Import Settings"

4. Select "Import Using" AIFF Encoder

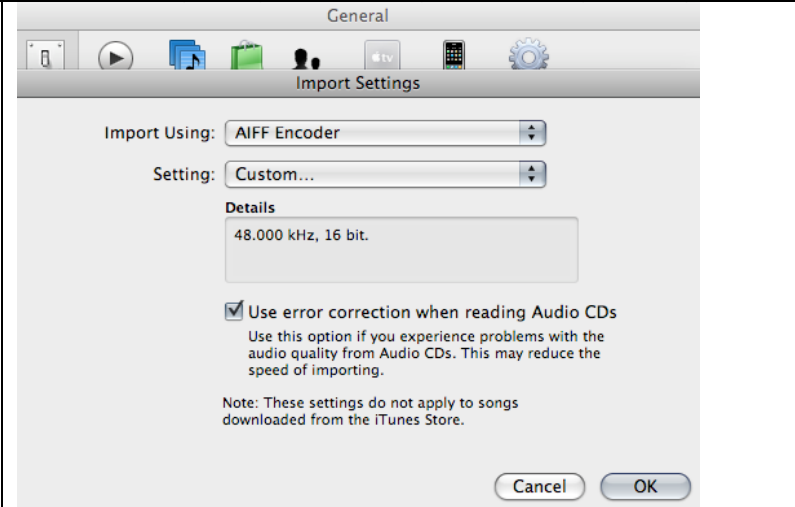

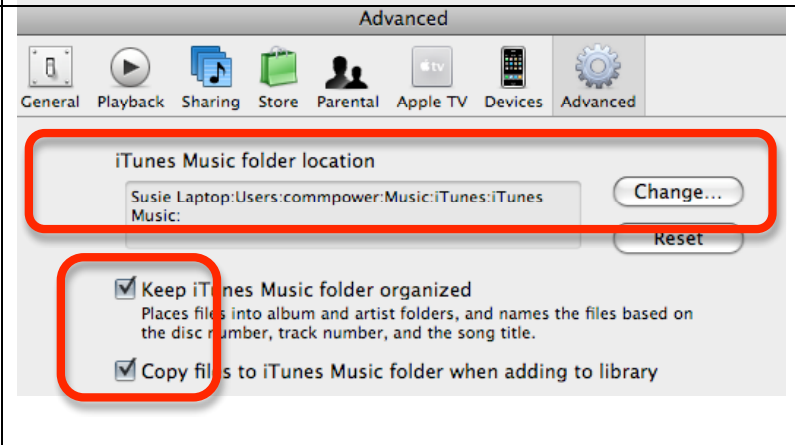

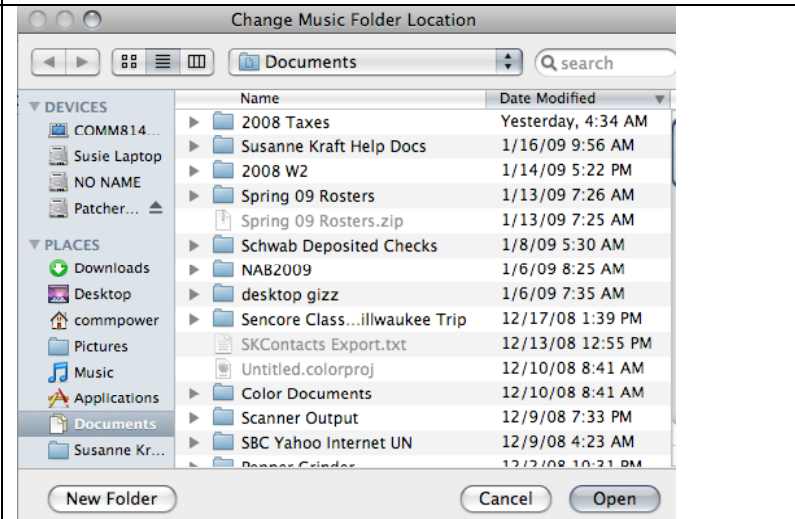

5. Setting: set to "Custom" button to change your Configuration to 16 bit 48 khz
Click OK to apply settings.

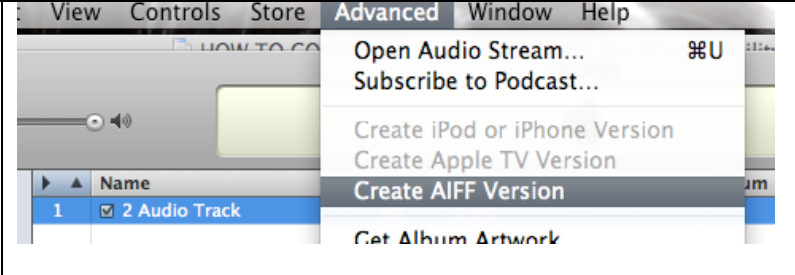

ITUNES-Convert Audio File to AIFF

January 28, 2009 Information:susanne.kraft@austin.utexas.edu

6. Check Use error correction when reading Audio CD's to improve transcoding.
7. Click on the Advanced tab and uncheck "Keep iTunes Music Folder Organized" and uncheck "Copy files to iTunes Music folder when adding to library" 8. Click on the Advanced Tab and set the location of where the converted audio will be saved. 9. Click on Change to change the directory location.
10. Select where to save the file in appropriate folder and select open
11. Click OK to apply the settings

ITUNES-Convert Audio File to AIFF

January 28, 2009 Information:susanne.kraft@austin.utexas.edu

12. Select the track to convert in the “Library” list and then >Go to Advanced>Create AIFF Version 13. File will begin conversion and when finished will be in the folder designated in step 10	 A screenshot of the iTunes application window. The 'Advanced' menu is open, showing options: 'Open Audio Stream...', 'Subscribe to Podcast...', 'Create iPod or iPhone Version', 'Create Apple TV Version', 'Create AIFF Version', and 'Get Album Artwork'. The 'Create AIFF Version' option is highlighted. In the background, a track titled '2 Audio Track' is selected in the library list.
---	--