EXPLORE TEXAS!

Architectural engineers tend to be known as the more artistically inclined engineering major. However, after getting to know more people across the CAEE school, we know this art inclination isn't just limited to ArchE's. This year, AEI would like to open this competition for all the CAEE departments!

Students, faculty, and staff can submit their favorite photo they believe best encompasses either architectural, civil, or environmental engineering found throughout Texas.

See here for last year's submissions:
