Workers' Compensation and Workplace Injuries

Workplace Injuries

Employees that have been injured on the job should immediately notify their supervisors.

Review HR: Worker's Compensation Insurance for complete information about reporting and managing Worker's Compensation claims and workplace injuries.

For questions about Worker's Compensation, or if you are in immediate need of care and are having trouble with your insurance, please contact Leave Management at HRS-LM@austin.utexas.edu or (512) 475-8099.

Medical Care for Workplace Injuries

- For injuries that result in an emergency, please call 911 and ask to be transported to the nearest emergency room (exposures to animal, chemical or biological hazards that result in an emergency should be referred to a St. David’s affiliated emergency room).
- For non-emergent injuries requiring first aid (minor cuts, bruises, sprains, and strains), please contact the on-campus Occupational Health Clinic at (512) 471-4647 and schedule an appointment with an Occupational Health Nurse.
- For non-emergent injuries requiring more urgent care, employees may also may choose to visit an urgent care center or healthcare provider that participates in the IMO Network. To search for participating provider, please visit IMO’s Find a Provider page.

Managing Return-to-Work Requests

When employees experience work-related injuries or diseases, this may impact their work situations. After you complete the initial forms associated with workers' comp injuries/diseases, collaboration with the employee’s manager will be essential to facilitate a timely return to work. Review Return-to-Work procedures.
