Dell Medical School Library
The Dell Medical School Library provides electronic access to books, journals, and databases, and the physical library space on the third floor of HLB has study tables and carrels, group study rooms, a room with available desktop computers, the librarian’s office, and a small print book collection.

To access all the electronic resources, go to the Dell Medical School Library website:

- Direct link: http://guides.lib.utexas.edu/medicine

- Or, enter the website through the “Research Help” link in Canvas:
On the library website, there is a section devoted to "Medical Student Resources":

You will be prompted to login with your UT EID and password to access the electronic library resources when not on campus, or when on campus but not on the UT Wi-Fi.

- Additionally you will authenticate via Duo Multi-Factor Authentication after you login.
- Having problems with your EID and password? Go here: https://idmanager.its.utexas.edu/eid_self_help/
- In many library databases, in order to access the full text PDF of articles, you will need to use the FindIt@UT button.

- If you are a Google Scholar user, you can configure your settings so that the Viewit@UT link (same link as Findit@UT) is visible for each article that is available in the UT Libraries e-journal collection. Follow these instructions: https://guides.lib.utexas.edu/ld.php?content_id=52857500

Library Services

- UT Get a Scan service – request a scan of a book chapter or article from the UT Libraries print collections or from other libraries if UT does not have the item needed. https://www.lib.utexas.edu/find-borrow-request/get-a-scan
- Interested in checking out a print book from one of the libraries on UT Austin’s campus? Use the “Pick It Up” service - https://www.lib.utexas.edu/find-borrow-request/borrow/request-recall
- Interlibrary Loan – use this to borrow a book from a library outside of UT Austin - https://www.lib.utexas.edu/find-borrow-request/interlibrary-loan

- Ask a Librarian
  - Ask the Dell Medical School librarian - Email, call, find the librarian at the library service desk or in her office, or set up an appointment. She can help you with UT Library resources, search strategies, reference citation tools such as EndNote, or any other information need.
  - If the Dell Medical School Librarian is not available and you need a question answered right away, try the Chat service at UT Libraries - https://www.lib.utexas.edu/research-help-support/ask-us

Printer/Scanner

There is a b/w printer / color scanner available in HLB 3.106.

- Submit your print job via web, email, or mobile app -
  - Information: https://www.lib.utexas.edu/study-spaces-technology/print-copy-scan/how-print#web-print-myprintcenter.
  - MyPrintCenter: https://print.lib.utexas.edu/myprintcenter/
